Standard Licence and Web Content Licences Explained

At Signagelive, we provide more choice, offering multiple licence options to suit different business models.

Why different licences?

We understand that businesses have different digital signage objectives, which is why we think it's important to offer more than one licence option for our content management system (CMS).

Standard Licence

While both our licence options make it easy to deliver content and manage your network, our Standard Licence is ideal for those who want to deliver all kinds of media, whether it's web-based content or not. This Licence also guarantees extra peace of mind, enabling you to keep the content displaying on-screen, even in the event of an internet outage, as your media will always be delivered directly to the storage of your media players.

Web Content Licence

Our second licence option is the Web Content Licence. This is the perfect licence for businesses that only need to deliver web-based content. If you have a reliable internet connection, sufficient bandwidth, and prefer to share web and app content, as well as videos streamed via platforms like YouTube, then this is the licence for you. Just remember that in the event of an internet connection issue, your content won't be able to run offline, as it can with the Standard Licence.

A summary table can be found below, and for additional links to our Help Centre articles and FAQs click here.

SUPPORTED CONTENT	WEB CONTENT LICENCE	STANDARD LICENCE
Video	Via widget only	✓
Images	Via widget only	✓
Web Pages	✓	✓
Marketplace Apps	✓	✓
IPTV	X	✓
Multizone Content	X	✓
Live TV	X	✓

SUPPORTED FEATURES	WEB CONTENT LICENCE	STANDARD LICENCE
Scheduling	✓	✓
Dashboard Monitoring	✓	✓
Nested/Localised Playlists	✓	✓
Dual Display Playback	X	✓
Remote Screenshots	X	✓
Synchronisation	X	✓
Screen Control	X	✓

signagelive